

Abstract of the Disclosure

An electrode joint is presented, the joint including two joined graphite electrodes and having a seal interposed between the electrodes, the seal composed of a material having an oxidation rate equal to or less than that of the electrodes.